Hi Peter

How are you?

I have just seen the website for the Aalener Spion and thought I would write an email to say hello. It is wonderful to see so many of the same faces on the website - please say hello to everyone for me.

I am still living in London and have been here ever since I left Germany. I am on the Board of Directors of a large Health and Fitness Chain with 14 centers and 25,000 members. Our website is www.fitness-exchange.net if you were interested to have a look.

I am still playing squash but not as much as I would like to. I am also completing a Masters Degree in Business (MBA) which takes a lot of my time at the moment.

I have an English girlfriend and we spend a lot of our spare time travelling to various parts of the world - something that just seems to be in my blood I guess.

I hope that this email gets to you and would love to hear back from you all.

Take care and best wishes

Tristan
